sandstone & granite exterior wall cladding

Stonissimo specializes in supplying natural stone wall cladding for both residential and commercial use in many shapes and forms: interior, exterior, tiles, panels to name but a few.

Natural stone is an ideal material for external cladding due to its excellent durability and exceptional weathering resistance qualities, guaranteeing a long life for all but the most demanding of applications.

A variety of different cladding options are available, using different stone types, sizes and surface finishes:

- Flat Rock Cladding - 60mm to 90mm thick square and rectangular chiselled blocks of varying sizes
- Random Style Cladding - 60mm to 90mm thick blocks of no particular size or shape
- Zimbabwe Style Cladding - 60mm to 90mm rectangular chiselled blocks of random lengths
- Riven Walling - 30mm thick random length blocks with sawn sides and rough chiselled fronts
- Sawn Building Blocks - manufactured according to specific requirements in any size and thickness
- Autumn/Burgundy Quartz Cladding - available in various sizes

sandstone & granite interior wall cladding

Craftsmen and designers have understood the high performance qualities of natural stone for centuries. Beyond its high-density factor and low absorbency rate, the diversity of colour and grain structure makes for interesting interior wall cladding options.

Thanks to its durability and water-resistance, natural stone also makes an ideal material for all kitchen and bathroom surfaces as well as tabletops.

Sourced from across the globe, Stonissimo has access to a wide variety of natural stone from sandstone, granite and travertine to quartz, limestone and slate, in tones and textures that enhance and add instant character to both contemporary and traditional interiors.

sandstone and granite flooring & paving

Natural stone is a common floor material in high traffic areas such as entrance halls, doorways and driveways. Stonissimo offers flooring and paving options in a variety of colours and finishes including polished, honed, flamed, brushed, bush hammered and chiselled.

Flooring options include beautiful natural stone floor tiles in a practical 10mm to 20mm thickness for indoor applications such as conservatories, kitchens and bathrooms or in a 30mm to 50mm thickness for outdoor applications such as pool surrounds, patios, driveways and pavements. Paving options include a full range of granite and sandstone tiles and cobbles. Cobbles can be used as divisions between paved areas for great decorative effect or can be mixed with flagstones and stepping-stones as border detail.

sandstone and granite stone landscaping

stonissimo

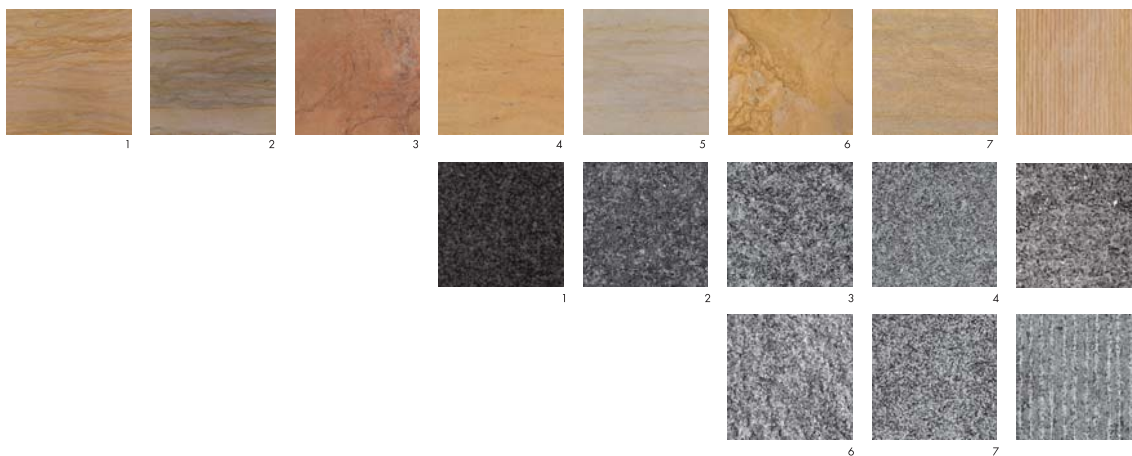

Stone landscaping is a modern trend using sandstone and granite chunks to create strong visual elements in the garden.

Stonissimo supplies such natural stone chunks for:

- filling areas in the garden to create low maintenance but visually striking focus points, along the edge of driveways, paths or rockeries
- dry walling, a wall of stones that is not held together by mortar but rather by the careful placement and weight of the natural stones, to create level sections in a sloping garden
- gabion baskets, wire or steel mesh baskets packed with selected stone cubes, for uses such as outdoor table bases, attractive retaining walls and garden landscaping features
